Morning

It is a beautiful morning—still and serene in every way with only the sounds of birds singing; darting across the sky and squirrels playing. Bright blue skies empowered by the morning sun filter across my usual place sitting in my fav’ chair in my home office. I sit in silence pondering the goodness of God in the midst of my compromised health.

I am so thankful that Jesus is the light of the world and that the prince of darkness does not win. I am thankful that God said, “Let light shine out of darkness” who has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor 4.6).

For now, during the flu/cold/virus season I cannot risk “going to church”—shaking hands, hugging people and close contact. It’s germ-ville!

I do miss it though. Being at the assembly is more than just “attending church service”- it is sharing in the light of Jesus, hearing and singing with heaven’s choir, sharing in the Table of the Lord and hearing Scripture. I am encouraged seeing and hearing children and youth participate in worship. And the people who have been in the habit of assembling for years because they share life not just attendance at an event.

Yes. We watch online. But it is not the same. I know some people have no choice but there is something about presence that squares with the incarnation Jesus Christ.

I don’t take all of this for granted. This rhythm has shaped my life in profound ways.

I thank God!
I am Blessed!
